DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of Applicant's amendment filed on April 21, 2003.

Claims 21-23 were added.

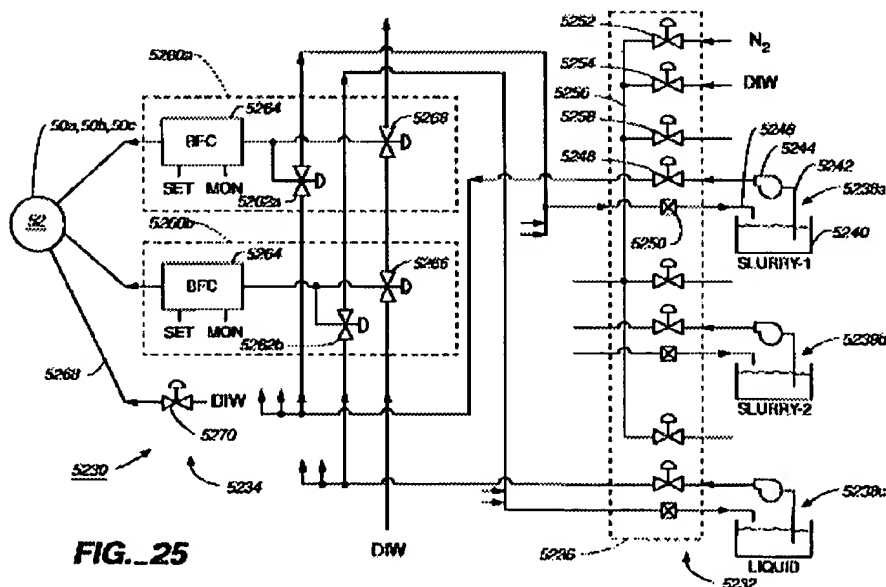

Claims 15-23 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 15-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Perlov et al.'6,086,457 in view of Togawa et al.'6,413,154.

U.S. Patent
Jul. 11, 2000
Sheet 24 of 74
6,086,457

With reference to

Figs. 19-25, col. 32, line 18, to col. 34, line 26, Perlov discloses the claimed invention including: a) a first CMP polisher 50a; b) second CMP polisher 50b; b) a plurality of slurry suppliers 5236a-c which are interchangeably supplied to polishers 50a-c.

Art Unit: 3723

However, Perlov is silent about which slurry suppliers is supplying oxidizing-free medium and which slurry supplier is supplying oxidizing medium.

With reference to Fig. 4, col. 3, line 49 to col. 4, line 3, Togawa teaches that stock solution may include an acidic, alkaline or neutral solution containing abrasive particles such as silica-gel, depending on the nature of the workpiece, and dilution liquid is normally deionized water containing no harmful impurities.

Sheet 4 of 4

US 6,413,154 B1

Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the Perlov apparatus with the teaching of employing different stock solutions with oxidizing liquid or oxidizer-free liquid as taught by Togawa to suit the polishing apparatus for optimum performances, depending on the nature of the workpiece.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed April 21, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to Applicant's arguments, 37 CFR Section 1.111(b) states, "A general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section." Applicant has failed to specifically point out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references.

4. In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 3723

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
